Our goal at the end of the day is to make your next event memorable and exceptional.

Buffet

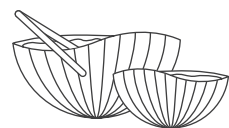

A meal where menu items are served on one main buffet table. Guests are able to help themselves and servers are on standby ready to clear plates and replenish items as necessary. A buffet allows for each person to customize their own plate and provides a relaxed atmosphere for you and your guests.

Plated

A full meal served in courses to seated guests. This meal option can come with a soup/salad, main entrée, and dessert, but ultimately personalized to your preference. Plated meals will create an extended formal feel for your event.

Stations

A full meal where menu items are served in various areas of the venue on several buffet tables. Traditionally, each station has a theme such as a Salad Station or a Pasta Station. This type of menu style often allows guests to circulate more and to get a wider sampling of menu items compared to a standard buffet.
